Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 10 Aug 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Drier and brighter with sunny spells.

Today:
A cloudy start in the morning but this will break to give some sunny spells. Largely dry for most but still a chance of isolated showers. Feeling warmer than yesterday with light winds. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Any afternoon showers will fade leaving a dry night with clear spells. Cloud will push in from the west later with some mist and fog patches, particularly over high ground. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Wednesday:
Cool start with mist and fog slowly clearing. Overall, a largely dry but cloudy day. Turning wet as a band of rain moves east overnight. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
The band of rain clears eastwards, leaving dry and clear spells on Thursday afternoon. Largely dry with sunny spells and scattered showers from Friday with cloud thickening on Saturday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.